This is an age of specialists, and also an age of lists.

It takes modern styles to show up the sweet young things.

You can go a long ways without finding any hidden gold.

Europe is talking about peace. Armaments, however, are still maintained.

The average politician will have at least one ear in the sand until next fall.

Fishing is sometimes described as a compromise between wishing and lying.

We have often wondered about balloon races. After you win one what do you do?

Correct this sentence: "Teacher, my little Sammy is really getting along too well."

When all of your debts are paid that is a good time to save money by not going into debt.

Not every hopeful man who gets his mail finds that long-awaited and often promised check.

Our extra slice of pie for this week is awarded the man who first learned to make hot weather cool.

The end of the world bothers some people but the average office-holder is only concerned with his own finish.

The people who eagerly read the mail order catalogs, believing all that they see, make a good prospective "sucker" list.

September, having given us a sample of its weather, we would like to know why most of us were glad when summer left.

Some people believe that a preacher is not a preacher when he golfs, swims and smokes.

The farmers know that they need relief and some of them are pretty sure they won't get it until some of the statesmen at Washington are relieved.

Roger Babson predicts that the Republicans will win in 1928 and the Democrats in 1932. All who believe what Roger says will please send us a quarter.

Some people say that the silver half-dollar is falling into disrepute. Most newspaper editors will still accept them, however, on subscription accounts.

Money is not only the source of much evil but it also is the cause of most worry. The population is divided into two classes; those who worry over keeping their money and those who worry over getting money.

It is about time for some statesman to make the point that before the French tennis team is allowed to carry the Davis Cup home the French should settle their war debt.

There are a few eminent citizens of this community who do not think enough of this exponent of the people to subscribe to it, but if they can do without us we can stagger along without them.

Subscribers of this journal of freedom and liberty are again invited to send us letters on any subject that happens to be intriguing. If they are temperately expressed we will gladly print them.

REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT IS SOUND.

Real estate as a safe and sound investment is universally accepted and has been the source of many manifolding their money. On the Gulf Coast this applies and as well in this particular section to Bay-Waveland district. It is noted within the past fortnight considerable property has changed hands. With the rapid progress of Waveland seawall and completion of Bay St. Louis bridge values will soar and remain stable.

CARELESS MAILING

Mail matter which cost some $600,000 was lost last year by direct mail advertisers through the use of obsolete mailing lists and the failure to use return cards on their envelopes so that undisposed of mail could be sent back.

This only refers to circulars mailed under first class postage, of which 12,688,567 were disposed of as waste matter by the Dead Letter Service. Figured at 5c each, to cover the cost of material, printing, labor and postage, the total reaches the large sum of $633,428.35.

Postal authorities call this to the attention of the public in the hopes of reducing this waste.

OUR FIGS.

How lightly we consider the possibilities of growing figs on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and yet the product not only carries value but is considered the best that grows anywhere.

A confection company, located at Pittsburgh, Pa., manufacturers of a fig candied preparation sold locally in retail packages, carries attractive advertisement circulars comes to The Echo, handed by a thoughtful friend, which brings us to a sense of realization—too many have lost in this particular instance.

Advertising the fig product, the circular says in two-color print: "South Mississippi and Louisiana—in that Glorious Land of Sunshine and Happiness—That's where the good art of taste is accepted famed throughout the Future Land."

Another paragraph: "Figs that grow in South Mississippi and Louisiana have the most delicious flavor. An ambassador of good taste."

It is the walking wonder of the fig and other products of the South and Louisiana.

AS WINTER APPROACHES, HEED THIS ADVICE.

Promote fire prevention and protect your property and family.

Last year over $1,000 worth of property was burned every minute and a life was lost every 35 minutes.

Clean property seldom burns—do away with rubbish and junk.

Careless smokers burned $30,000,000 worth of property last year.

Keep matches in metal boxes where children cannot reach them.

Don't keep ashes in wooden boxes or deposit them against wooden buildings or partitions.

Don't change your electric wiring without consulting a competent electrician.

Don't hang electric light cords on nails.

Be careful with electric flatirons and always use with signal light.

Use metal protection under all stoves and protect woodwork where stoves or furnaces are close to walls.

Don't pass stove pipes through ceiling, roofs or wooden partitions.

Have all flues cleaned, examined and repaired at least once a year.

Every open fireplace should have a screen.

Don't connect gas stoves, heaters or hot plates with rubber hose.

Don't use gasoline or benzine to cleanse clothing near an open flame, light or fire. Use noninflammable cleaner.

Don't use kerosene, benzine or naphtha in lighting fires or to quicken a slow fire.

Don't use liquid polishes near open lights. Many such compounds contain volatile inflammable oils.

Don't go into closets with lighted matches or candles.

Remember that there is always danger in the discarded cigarette and cigar stub.

THE BATTLE OF THE CARS.

A real battle of the centuries will begin when the new Ford car comes on the market. That it will be probably the most stupendous industrial contest ever waged in the open markets of the world goes without saying, as does the conclusion that the prospective purchaser of automobiles need not worry over the casualties in the fight.

Ford, as everyone knows, had the light car field hogged for years until Chevrolet in 1926 jumped up to 732,145 sales, a gain of more than 200,000 over the year before while Ford dropped from 2,131,163 to 2,070,700. Of course, the Ford margin was enormous but the indicated drift was plain to see and besides there were other cars besides Chevrolet attacking his domain.

The figures for this year mean little or nothing because the Ford shops have been undergoing remodeling for the new model, but the fact that Chevrolet sold around 600,000 cars in six months indicates another big jump for Henry's chief competitor. Now, that the outline is drawn, and we know what the battle is about, let us take a view at the prospective opponents.

Ford, in many respects the most remarkable figure in modern industrial life, is rated a billionaire. General Motors, the parent of Chevrolet, possess capital and surplus of $734,358,398. It is, among corporations, as remarkable as Ford among men.

What will come about remains to be seen. Rumors from each of the opposed camps speak vaguely of plans, of new sizes, of super-fours, of trained salesmen, of widespread advertising, etc. Every adjunct of modern commercialized business will be with the armies when they battle for the "poor man's motor trade."

There are many in Bay St. Louis who would dislike for either of these giant antagonists to be hurt in the battle. We are among them. However, the foreign field opens up a great vista to American motors and the domestic market has been by no means saturated. Just as few men expected to see moderately-fixed families owning two and sometimes, three cars, there is a possibility that even the so-called "poor man" will be able to boast of his "cars."

WHAT'S THE BIG IDEA!

Money plus interest makes money. Indians sold New York City for $24 to Dutchmen. Had they placed that sum at six per cent. compounded on the day they sold the land, their heirs would have more money now than New York City is worth. Chauncey Depew, past ninety, tells how he put $100 in the savings bank sixty-six years ago, and now has $1,100 in the bank.

But interest, while sure, is slow. A good idea makes money quickly. John E. Andrus, called the "Straphanger Millionaire" because he hangs to street car straps when he might ride in his automobile, bought one share of Singer Sewing Machine stock for a few dollars in 1864. Having bought a good thing, he knew enough to keep it. That share has paid him thus far $94,600.

It was not Mr. Andrus' thrift that made the money, but the idea of another man, putting the eye of the needle in the needle's point, instead of the other end, thus making the sewing machine possible. Be thrifty, save, let interest work for you by all means. But use your brain for quick results.

GIVES MONEY TO LEAGUE.

Announcement is made from Geneva, Switzerland, that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has donated $2,000,000 for the erection of a library for the League of Nations. The gift has been accepted with joy by the institution, which will use it to supplement its own library fund.

Mr. Rockefeller, like his father, is a giver of proportions. He turns loose his money in varying ways and to various good causes. Recently he completed giving France some odd millions for the work of restoring her national monuments.

Of course, The Sea Coast Echo has no quarrel with any rich American who gives away his own money. Certainly the donor is entitled to his choice but the thought comes to us that there are certain rural sections of the United States that would be helped by the generous attention of American men of wealth.

CAN A CITY SELL GASOLINE?

The question whether or not a City can engage in the business of selling gasoline and oil at cost to its inhabitants in competition with other citizens is before the Supreme Court for decision.

Lincoln, Nebraska, entered into the business of selling gasoline because it considered that commodity to be a necessity. Oil companies are fighting the city's authority and claim that only in the case of a scarcity of supply, unreasonable prices, or a monopoly would the city have such a right.

The decision in this case will be awaited with interest. Gasoline has become practically as great a necessity as food or electricity.

It is every man in the country that as much money as he can get is worth while. A special dividend for each barrel of gasoline sold at cost to the city.

Now is the time to pick your candidate, with President Coolidge "not choosing," which means that he does not intend to be a candidate.

Hoover, Mellon, Hughes, Lowden or a dark horse, who will it be?

Charles Evans Hughes is back from Europe, with "nothing to say to reporters," a dangerous sign with a national convention near.

Mr. Hughes never said, "I am too old to be President," that would be preposterous, from one of the most hard working men in public life. He did say, "I am too old to run for President."

Secretary Mellon is back from Europe, also, "with nothing to say to reporters."

Secretary Mellon was walking up Park avenue in New York City last week, looking about half his age and such compounds contain volatile inflammable oils.

Don't go into closets with lighted matches or candles. Remember that there is always danger in the discarded cigarette and cigar stub.

The Smithsonian Institution will have a weather station in southwest Africa. There, high up in the air, in the dry, clear atmosphere, science will study the sun, calculate solar radiation and, if hopes are realized, predict weather as much as a week or a month, and even one year, in advance.

It has taken men a long while to find out that what they have and what happens to them depends largely on the big star that lights their short lives.

A gentleman, occasionally posing as a nobleman, was arrested recently, accused of marrying fifty women and getting a million dollars in money and jewelry from them. There is nothing to be said about that except that it is in the nature of a woman's trust men, unfortunately for women.

"Curls are coming back," says a professor of physiology, even "puff girls" and the "shingle" will pass. Common sense is with the bob. Romance with the puffed curl. You could not imagine Martha Washington with a bob.

No great thing is achieved without sacrifice. Those distressed by loss of life in flying may remember that the total number of deaths in trans-Atlantic flying is smaller than the number killed automobilizing on any fine Sunday. The thing is to keep on and conquer.

C. V. Miller, of Toronto, left brewery stock to seven Methodist ministers and Ontario Jockey Club shares to opponents of race track gambling.

At the end of nine years, the proceeds of his estate go to the parents of the largest family born in the province during that time.

Methodist ministers, to get the $75,000 brewery stock, must draw the dividends and vote on the company's management "to see whether their aversion for money was greater than their principles."

The ministers of course, will do what is necessary to collect the money, and use it for prohibition propaganda, thus thwarting Satan.

Leaving your money to the biggest family is dull. The mouse would beat any human being, the shad would beat a mouse, and the female oyster, with her millions of youngsters each year would make it all look like birth control. Leaving money to poor parents that take the best care of their children might be a good idea.

But money left for benevolent purposes—excepting science and education—is usually wasted. The work you do while you live counts, there's no knowing what your money may do after you.

Great Britain intends to protect ignorant investors against get-rich-quick stock salesmen and other schemers. Peddling stocks from door to door is to be stopped, selling stocks through the mail restricted and watched. The oil, real estate, and mining schemes that rob investors in this country would not be possible in Great Britain.

THERE'S BUNK IN CLEVERNESS FLEA.

Whether it is a phase of inferiority complex or not, it is true that people are always suspicious of clever people. They resent their cleverness as an implied superiority, and the best means for creating a prejudice against them is to pretend that they are cleverer than ourselves.

It is a favorite pose of lawyers before a jury to discard all ordinary arts of reasoning and proclaim themselves as simply presenters of facts.

Those who wish to enhance their own personal reputation may pose as clever men, but those who wish to gain their particular point renounce any appearance of cleverness.

One of the favorite arguments against doing business with other nations is to claim that they are much cleverer than ourselves, much more tricky and resourceful. Every nation wishes to consider itself as simple, faithful and trusting, and all others as wily and deceitful.

We heard a great deal about President Wilson's being taken in by Lloyd George and Clemenceau. We are now deluged with news to the effect that our representatives abroad in another conference are being cozened by the statesmen of other nations.

Al this is pure bunk. The Yankees are as clever as anybody and abundantly able to take care of themselves. If anybody leaves them with the heavy end of the stick to carry they will have to be pretty sharp.

Suspicion of foreigners is all too common and a frequent cause of misunderstandings. It would be much better to be honest and frank ourselves, to lay the cards on the table and to trust other people to do the same. Much animosity and antagonism are aroused by suspicion. Trust hardly ever arouses anything but trust in return.

A man some time ago wrote a book entitled, "My Neighbor Is Perfect." If everybody believed in his neighbor and trusted him we would have much less trouble than we do at present.

It is often said that the Golden Rule needs an amendment. It is not only necessary to do unto others as you would have they do unto you, but to be bold enough to take the first step in trust.

The idea of claiming that other nations or diplomats are wily and slippery, while our own are rugged and honest, is a vicious one, and all who help to spread it are not doing a very commendable job.

Fatalities Increase Under Compulsory Insurance.

That the new compulsory automobile liability insurance law of Massachusetts has not resulted in reduction in number of deaths due to automobile accidents during the accidents up to the first of July.

The Massachusetts Safety Council reports that there were 288 deaths from automobiles from January 1 to July 1, 1927, or an increase of 21 deaths over the same period in 1926.

While these figures will not be reduced, they may be increased as a result of deaths reported later or occurring later. There are reported to be several June victims on the dangerous list in different hospitals.

The PUBLIC Is Making Money Out Of The Railroads

Efficiency of operation and the constant vigilance on the part of the steam railroads of the United States in improving every branch of their service has brought about great monetary returns to the American people. Here are some of the ways in which the public has profited by improved railroad service:

During the year 1926 the average rate per ton mile declined at such an extent that the public was saved $120,000,000 in freight charges compared with the year 1925. During the year 1926 an increase of more than $30,000,000 was paid by the railroads in taxes making the total amount of money from which the public received the benefit, approximately $150,000,000 in one year. During the year 1926 with an increase in earnings, after taxes, of $27,000,000, the employees received $36,000,000 more than in 1925, and the increase in the purchase of materials and supplies for operating purposes, and other minor items, amounted to $39,000,000.

In short, the benefits accruing to the public, employees and owners of American railroads as a result of increased efficiency in operation, and heavier traffic, totaled $156,000,000, of which the public received 44%, the employees 28.5%, and the owners 27.5%. American railroads are delivering the best transportation service in the world, and at the lowest cost.

FRENCH HAIL AMERICAN TIN HATS AS THEY MARCH AND MAKE IMPRESSION

Members of American Legion Take Paris By Storm and Are Acclaimed With Open Arms—Marshal Foch Presents Flag to Legionnaires.

Headed by French war-mutilated veterans of American Legionnaires marched through Paris Sunday in a brilliant parade. Regular war time attire and uniforms of khaki were worn by the legionnaires. The parade was something that the French had never seen before and every American soldier made a lasting impression on the cheering Parisians.

Legion Side-Show. Paris, Sept. 19. A. P.—Over-indulgence in their war-time delicacy, the legionnaires, in Paris for the convention opening today. Heavy colds were responsible for most of the 250 cusses attended at the Red Cross aid station yesterday, but gastric troubles came second.

Fashions from Menomonic, Wisconsin, have made a hit in Paris, fashion center of the world. They are displayed in the wardrobe of Mrs. Adam Wright Macaulay, national president of the legion auxiliary. She wore a dress "enough to last a whole week."

There were dancing in the streets of Paris last night for the first time in the history of the third republic, with the exceptions of the national holiday, July 14, and armistice night. Just as the couples, young and old, began fox trotting, the rain began to fall.

"You brought the water; you should have left it at home," said a legionnaire dancing with a legionnaire, calling a sly dig at the American prohibition law.

"One needs to bring water with him here," the doughboy retorted.

National Commander Howard P. Savage, if one would believe the communists, is rightly named. They bel him in their newspaper L'Humanite, as "the Yankee Fascist savage, one of those responsible for the Sacco-Vanzetti assassination."

French police officials think Pershing's buddies won't need much protection in case the communists seek to "start something." One official said: "These boys are pretty healthy looking citizens. I guess they can look after themselves."

Veterans who boasted of a mean French vocabulary when they left for home nine years ago find themselves rather rusty now. One complained:

"They've changed their language. I could parley-voo this lingo with the best of them in 1919, but they don't seem to get me now."

The old Trocadero palace, erected under Napoleon III, has been turned into a cable office to transmit the thousands of words which newspapermen will send home on the doing of the veterans this week. The first dispatch ever sent from the famous old building was flashed to the Associated Press headquarters in New York yesterday afternoon.

Serious measures will be taken to keep the women delegates from deserting the convention hall for the lure of Paris' fascinating shop windows. Lunch will be served to them in the hall, for as Mrs. Macaulay, the auxiliary president, says: "If we once let them out of our sight we will never see them again."

Special services were held for the legionnaires and their families in the churches of all denominations yesterday. The veterans also visited famous cafes and strolled the boulevards. Parisians generally abandoned their customary week-end visits to town in order to greet the visitors.

One of the shocks for former soldiers revisiting Paris for the American Legion convention is a sign on a door at headquarters, reading, "M. P. Division" no red brassards are in evidence and the M. P.'s wear civilian clothing but the consensus of comment from the former A. J. O. L. is "where do they get that stuff?" Among the wartime slogans displayed at the headquarters building are "Write 'em about Paris," "Send work back to the farm," and write a letter home.

Palais Du Trocadero, Paris, A. P.—The Americans seem surprised, their welcome being marked with a warmth and sincerity far beyond the requirements of international amenities. It is evident that the old friendship of the French people still lives for the dashing youths of the American expeditionary forces who came to their aid in the hour of need.

Premier Poincare, in a welcoming banquet put it this way: "Faithful to the memory of the population and your brothers in arms who witnessed their heroism, even more abiding than the most substantial monument, no Frenchman, indeed, will ever forget that you crossed the sea to come and Everything has smiled on the convention but the skies. The intermittent drizzle which greeted the doughboys on their arrival still continued this morning to test the dyes of their many-hued caps. But it has failed to drown the spirit of carnival they share with were kept going until well after midnight, and when the rain came the dancing couples merely raised umbrellas and went on fox-trotting. The boulevards were thronged with crowds eager to take in the wonderful illuminations and quite indifferent to the weather. The cafes did a land-office business and taxis could not be had for love of money. All the big tourists blazes were mobilized, and careened down the boulevards loaded to the gunwales with sightseers.

F'BALL SEASON AT KILN CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL IS NOW UNDER WAY

Number of Candidates Eliminated Until Only Real Gladiators Are Working Intensely—This Week to Witness Final Picking of Players.

BY NORTON HAAS, Athletic Director.

Football is well under way now, the candidates have been cut down until only the faithful and hard-working gladiators of the local griffin remain in the going. The training season and the light work is about over, and the boys are now preparing for a strenuous campaign. Not a stone is being left unturned in their path to put them in tip-top shape for their first tilt sometime about the first of October. The fight the boys have put up in their workouts, and the indomitable spirit they have shown throughout the most trying time of football training has been remarkable. If present indications can be used as criterion the boys from the Purple Wave are scheduled for a banner season in their first year of football.

This week will be confined mostly to the picking of the first string men. The following men have been showing up well in their respective positions during the recent workouts, and will most likely hold down regular berths as named: A. Dubuisson and O. Seals on the terminals, "Son" Nease and C. Lader on the tackles, "Boots" Waters and L. Ory on the Guard positions, with W. Lee in center. In the backfield we find "Buck" Lott a smart backfield man at quarter; V. Moran, a line driver at full-back, while Lester Nease and Gene Crowe, both speedy and good broken field runners, will occupy the two halves. The men that will most likely draw the utility card are A. Lader, C. Moran, V. Moran and O. Lee. The schedule in full will be announced sometime during the first part of October.

C. B. Adam Lands Two Large Tarpons Off Pass Christian

Although the month of August has long been regarded as the banner month for tarpon fishing in the Mississippi Coast waters and big tarpon rodeos attended by prominent sportsmen from all sections of the nation have always been staged at Pass Christian during this month, Bidwell Adam, Mississippi's next lieutenant-governor, demonstrated Saturday while fishing in the famous Tarpon hole off the Pass Christian shore that September is just as good if not better than August to hook the big game fish.

In company with George Smith and Captain Robert Peralta, Mr. Adam went on a fishing expedition Saturday to Goose Point and the Pass Christian Tarpon hole and hooked three big tarpons and safely landed in his boat two of them. They measured five feet and nine inches and five feet six inches respectively and were fine specimens of the big game fish.

Judge Emile Godchaux, of New Orleans aboard the "Loiterer" was also tarpon fishing at the Tarpon hole Saturday, said Mr. Adam and although he saw a large number of the big fish and had several strikes he was unable to land any of the big fellows. The Tarpon were more numerous Saturday than he had ever seen there before, said Mr. Adams.

Owing to the gubernatorial campaign being in progress at the regular tarpon rodeo, Mr. Adam, who has always attended this big affair, was compelled to forego the pleasure and had feared that he would miss the thrill of tarpon fishing which annually draws many fishermen to the famous Pass Tarpon grounds. Saturday's success, however, was all that he could have desired, he declared, and proves that the tarpon season on the Coast is of longer duration than has been commonly supposed.

In addition to the tarpon, Mr. Adam and his party ran into a large school of bull red fish, catching three that had a combined weight of approximately 90 pounds. The waters around Goose Point and the Tarpon hole was literally alive with big fish, they declared.—Gulfport Herald.

Results Justify Private Ownership of Industry

Results are what the people want, and the results of regulated private ownership are as satisfactory that 95.1 per cent. of the electricity in the United States is produced under that system and only 4.9 per cent. under public ownership, 85 per cent. of municipal plants purchase energy from private companies and 1,129 municipal plants have been closed, some of them junked. Public ownership has been tried and has failed; regulated private ownership has been justified by experience.

COMMENT ON SPORTS

In taking six games from the Braves last week, while St. Louis and New York were splitting three double headers, the Pirates all but won the National League pennant. Not the winning is certain, but the pick-up of three full games on the two challenges at this stage of the season means much.

It is possible for the Giants or the Cardinals to win the race, but it is not likely, although the schedule favors the latter over the former. New York, swinging through the West, will take on the leaders most of the time, while the other team will at least have a few cracks at the out-classed East.

The Yankees cinched their pennant last week and are now getting ready for the World Series. They will make a hard team to beat. Good pitching, powerful batting and an aggressive defense make them stronger than last year, in the eyes of many experts.

After waiting twenty-five years the French have finally won the Davis Cup, largely through the excellent playing of Cochet, who won his singles matches with both Tilden and Johnson. The defense of the cup rested almost solely upon Bill Tilden, while he put up magnificent examples of good playing in his first and second matches he could not maintain the fast pace on the last day, and lost. Johnson came through with a fine stand in an effort to match the victory, but it was not to be.

In polo the United States reigns supreme for another three years, beating the British challengers two straight games last week. The first was a rout of proportions, but a shift in the British line-up gave the Americans something to work against in the second game. The American veterans, Hout and Hitchcock, were large factors in the success. Under the agreement made before the series began Britain cannot challenge again until 1930.

After displaying super-tennis in the Davis Cup matches, Henry Cacheret went to defeat in the national tournament, being defeated by Heanessy of Indiana, in a surprising match.

The Gordon Bennett Balloon race was won, apparently, by an American balloon, which traveled from Detroit to a point in Georgia. Many of the balloons came down in the Carolinas, and one, at least, the Hispania, Spanish entry, was forced to alight through a shortage of drinking water.

The cancellation by Aviators Brock and Schlee of their effort to fly from Japan to the Midway Islands was generally approved throughout the United States. Such a journey would be most miraculous without accident, inasmuch as the islands furnish a very small target for navigation and the landing possibilities are practically nil. These flyers made a very successful trip to Japan and their accomplishment really means something to aviation's progress.

LOIS DELANDER, OF ILLINOIS, CROWNED "MISS AMERICA" FOR 1927.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 21.—At the highest Court of Beauty, held here annually, Miss Lois Eleanor Delander, of Joliet, Ill., realized the absolute pinnacle of a maiden's dream! For she was selected from a host of the most beautiful girls from all parts of the United States and crowned "Miss America" for 1927—a title that not only credits her with being the nation's most beautiful girl—but also carries with it an opportunity for considerable fame and fortune.

And Lois and her parents seem to be the only ones who are surprised. She came to Atlantic City as Miss Illinois, the victor of a competition that included ten Illinois cities, and she saw in the adventure only a pleasant trip.

An Honor Student.
She is indeed a beautiful girl—petite and soft spoken, with gray blue eyes and unusually fair skin. Her
